PLO wants serious dialogue with US

TUNIS, March I, (Reuter): The PLO wants to see results if talks with the United States are to continue, one of its leaders, Abdullah Hourani, said. He said the PLO also believes

Washington is indirectly encouraging military operations by factions within the PLO through its reluctance to resume a serious dialogue with it.

"It is the reluctance on the US side to enter a serious dialogue with the PLO, to open prospects for peace, which encourages this kind of operation," PLO executive committee member Hourani said.

In an interview yesterday evening he said the PLO was dissatisfied with its informal gatherings with the United States' officials.

Concern

Hourani was speaking on the same day the US Ambassador in Tunis, Robert Pelletreau, told the PLO representative there, Hakam Balawi, of US concern at an apparent attempt by PLO commandos to infiltrate Israel lasi week.

The meeting was the fourth between Pelletreau and Balawi since the PLO and the United States had a first and only round of formal talks in Tunis last

Hourani, an independent and a member of the four-man PLO team in that first round, said the PLO wanted a formal and serious dialogue which studied the Middle East conflict in depth and contributed to preparations for an international peace con-

Foreign workers pose no danger to Kuwait: Sheikh Salem

Security situation is under control

March (KUNA): The security situation in Kuwait is under control and Kuwait can boast of a lower crime rate than many other countries, Interior Min-ister Sheikh Salem Al Sabah said today.

Speaking to the chief editors of Egyptian newspapers, who are currently visiting the country, Sheikh Salem said the wave of bombings during the last two years was merely a string of

"isolated incidents", which could not disturb the country's religious stressed extremism does not exist in the

"There is, however, a measure of fundamentalism in the realm of faith but it does not lead to violence" due to the Kuwaiti tradition of tolerance, Sheikh

Sheikh Salem added that the foreign workers pose no danger to Kuwaiti society as "they constitute a relatively small proportion of the total workforce." He added, Kuwait does not consider Arabs working in the country as "Non-Arab expatriates are too small a group to pose a dan-ger and they are employed in unimportant jobs," he said. Commenting on the new labour regulations, the official said that these were issued to organise and stop trading in expatriate manpower.

"It has got nothing to do with the security situation," he added. Sheikh Salem advocated capital punishment for drug traffickers calling it "the most effec-tive deterrent." But, he added, in certain cases drug traffickers could be sentenced to life imprisonment. He also pointed out that drug related crimes in Kuwait are negligible in number.

The interior minister said that drugs and alcohol are problems that have crept into the country from abroad.

He also said that fraud and issuing of dud cheques are two other common crimes. Dud cheques have become a problem after the Manakh Stock Market

100 killed in Venezuela riots

CARACAS, March 1, (Agencies): Hooded snipers clashed with troops near the presidential palace today, following two days of rioting over government-ordered price increases that left 100 people dead, 800 wounded and hundreds in jail.

The snipers fired on the patrol from windows overlooking the street and that the soldiers fired back with automatic weapons.

The gunbattle created panic among women lining up at stores for food in the January 23 neighbourhood, which is located near Miraflores Palace, the presidential palace.

The clash erupted as thousands of troops patrolled the riot-torn streets of Caracas to enforce a dusk-to-dawn curfew aimed at quelling unrest.

President Carlos Andres Perez announced yesterday in a speech that he was suspending constitutional rights in a bid to end the rioting that has spread to at least 12 cities since Monday. The government has not given a death toll in the looting and of gasoline and public transportation. But a top military official said up to 100 people were killed The newspaper El Nacional said at least 80 people died, 800 were wounded and 1,000 were arres-

Alexis Bolivar, an official of the judicial technical police, said the bodies of 12 people who apparently died in the violence in Caracas were brought to the morgue there.

The streets of the capital were strewn with debris and some were impassable today as troops patrolled in armoured personnel carriers, in jeeps and on foot.

Shots were heard throughout the night, mostly from troops shooting over the head of looters, who defied the 8 pm to 6 am curfew and destroyed and sacked hundreds of businesses, aiming especially at food markets. The suspension of con-

PLO invites frontline Arab states to talks

ABU DHABI, March 1, (Reuter): The PLO has invited frontline Arab states to talks on forging a united stand on an international Middle East peace conference, PLO chairman Yasser Arafat said today.

He told the official United Arab Emirates news agency WAM that Syrian President Hafez Al Assad, at odds with Arafat for six years, had told Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze that he would attend the talks.

"The PLO has invited Egypt, Syria, Jordan (and) Lebanon as the countries concerned with the Middle East problem for talks within two or three weeks with the state of Palestine to co-ordinate stands on the international peace conference on the Middle diplomatic ties with Egypt which they cut because of Cairo's 1979 peace treaty with Israel. Arafat added that no exact date had been set for the meeting, which he said could take place in Cairo, Beirut, Damascus or

Sudanese Army reiterates demand for new government

KHARTOUM, March 1, (Agencies): Sudan's military leaders have refused to back down from their confrontation with Prime Minister Sadeq Al Mahdi, renewing their demand for a new government and denying him a promise not to mount a coup.

Scandal and new tax may force Takeshita to call April election

TOKYO, March 1, (Reuter): A bribery scandal that refuses to go away and a controversial new sales tax could force Japan's rul-ing party to hold a general election as early as April, analysis and Members of Parliament said

According to the latest opinion poll, public support for the government of Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita has plummeted to 19 per cent, one of the lowest levels in the post-war era.

The Liberal Democratic Party has suffered a number of embarrassing defeats in local elections this year, and its candidate for a regional governer-ship north of Tokyo had to withdraw after being implicated in the share scandal.

The party, in power since 1955, faces an upper house election in July and expects to lose a large block of seats because of public anger over the scandal, which has so far forced three cabinet ministers to resign.

Real power rests with the lower house, which Takeshita must dissolve for a general elec-tion before July 1990.

Political analysts said the party could lose a substantial number of seats in an early election, but would be very unlikely to lose its grip on power. If the party delays an election the thinking goes, the scandal could get out of control and cause critical damage, especially if any politicians are arrested for involvement.

"It is not a time for the LDP to bury its head in a hole and run away from voter criticisms," said Kunio Hatoyama, at 39 one of the youngest of the party's 297 lower house members.

"Our strength is in realistic economic policies and without that Japan cannot survive. We have to fight (elections) using the fruits of those realistic policies and talk of new ones." Hatoyama said.

One socialist Member of Parliament, Tomio Sakagami, said he believed Takeshita may dissolve Parliament after forcing the budget through in mid-April. "It's pure speculation, but (the election) could be on April 28,

17 per cent deaths in Kuwait due to traffic accidents

WITHIN the framework of 1989 Traffic Cultural Forum organised by Kuwait Sociologists Association, Kuwait's Road Safety Society held a seminar on the theme of "The Social Dimensions of Traffic Accidents.'

Dr Ali Al Tarrah from Kuwait University, speaking at the seminar said that social dimensions of traffic accidents in Kuwait require research which centres on the legal and social aspects of the problem.

Relevant statistics indicate that 17 per cent of mortality in Kuwait resulted from traffic accidents compared to 15 per cent fatal heart attacks. Most traffic accident victims were under 25 years of age.

Social aspects

The Kuwaiti community witnessed positive financial change, but, other aspects such as values, customs and culture demonstrated no substantial improvement. Accordingly. there is an imbalance between financial and social changes. The social aspects of the Kuwaiti youth should be discussed carefully as a great number suffer from nervous tensions, the official said. Dr Latifah Al Rujaib, Assistant Undersecretary for Social Care Affairs at Kuwait Ministry of Social Affairs and Labour in presenting a paper said that traf-fic accidents rated second to mortality cases in Kuwait. The government sustained human osses in addition to incurring large financial payments.

Information

She called for adopting a comprehensive informational cam-paign to eradicate deviations among youths and added the information could play a positive role in this respect.

The research also concentrated on the role of schools towards forming and creating positive values and behaviour. She called on the government institutions to pay special concern to this issue.

Professor George Abouna. head of the Organ Transplant Department of Kuwait University's Faculty of Medicine told KUNA that families of the deceased had taken the initiative to donate the kidneys of their belowed ones.

The kidney donations, Professor Abouna went on, have been in response to a new law issued by Health Minister Dr Abdul Razzaq Yousef Abdul Razzaq.

GCC foreign ministers to | Islamic moon sighting council proposed by experts

THE Crescent Images and Astronomical Techniques Symposium called for establishing an Islamic council for legal moon

The symposium which con-cluded yesterday after three days of deliberations on sighting the moon, proposed that the council have two members from each Islamic state — one an Islamic scholar and the other an astronomer. It said that the council should hold three meetings every year to determine and unify the sighting of the crescents (new moon) for the months of Ramadan (beginning of fasting) month of Shawwal (Eid Al Fitr or end of fasting) and the month of Zul Hijja (in which Hajj is performed).

Notifications The symposium said that the council will be entitled to receive notifications for moon slighting from the different Islamic countries. No Muslim country should announce sighting the new moon before notifying the Council.

It said that after proving the sighting of the new moon, the council will announce it and all Muslim countries should abide by its announcement. The council will also exchange views about the rest of the Hijra calendar months. The symposium proposed that the new council be affiliated to the Organisation of the Islamic Conference (OIC) and be based in the holy city of Makkah. Formula The symposium was held under the patronage of HH the Amir and was attended by Islamic scholars and astronomers from many Islamic countries. The main issue of the discussion was to find a correct formula for sighting the moon using the legal Islamic way and astronomical calculations. The symposium called upon all Islamic countries to accept sighting the moon if sighted in any country in order to unify the Muslim lestivals and events.

The symposium also said that the legal Islamic method of sighting the new crescent remains the basic method for sighting the moon and that astronomical calculations alone can not be accepted to determine the beginning or end of a lunar month.

However, the symposium said that astronomical calculations should be used as a means to prove whether the moon can be sighted or not. This means that if there is a suspicion on the testimony of some Muslims for sighting the new moon, astronomical calculations can then be used to prove that it was impossible to see the new moon and thus the testimony won't be taken. According to Islamic practice, the moon must be sighted by several Muslims who must testify that they sighted the moon.

The symposium also called upon Islamic states to adopt the Lunar calendar in all their transactions and in daily usage.

Civil Service Council decision will negatively affect real estate market: economist

ABDUL Rida Khorshid, one of Kuwait's leading economists said that the implementation of the new Civil Service Council decision, cancelling government housing for newly appointed employees, will have a negative impact on the local real estate market and cause it to deteriorate.

The decision has adverse effects and opposes the general directives towards reviving national economy. It is obvious that real estate and rents will be affected according to the fun-damental economical law stating that an increase in demand causes a drop in prices, the official said.

He said that the new decision. taken without consulting local real estate owners, will also affect other relative economic sectors.

The existing problem of empty flats will further deteriorate and cause huge financial losses.

The general economical situation is the lead cause for deterioration of the real estate market. Additionally, the Central Bank's decision of last December calling for an increase in profits led to more stagnation regarding selling and buying real estate, the official said.

A rich display of handmade objects

A DASH of creativity has turned hobbies into a paying pastime for more than 60 women who are now taking part in a handicrafts exhibition at Kuwait's Regency Palace Hotel.

The art objects give a glim-use of what women can do if they set their mind to creating something.

Sixty ladies from Kuwait, India, Pakistan, Egypt and Iraq are showing handicrafts ranging from water-colours, painting on ceramic and glass. water-colours on silk, pottery, dried flower arrangements to bonsai, brassware and silver jewellery and semiprecious stone jewellery. Kuwaiti, Turkish and Indian sweet and savoury food are plus point for those who want to spend a morning out. Seven male artists, like Jassem Ai Ramzan, are displaying paintings, mostly of Kuwaiti scenes and pottery.

Most women like Omeed Saleh, Fawzia Memon, Shamima and Hussa Rashed took up the handicrafts as a hobby in the last couple of years, learning their craft in Paris, India and Kuwait from experienced teachers. Except the painters, all the others are having the first public display of their work.

Though most handicrafts are beautiful, some of the most exquisite are lacquer-ware by Watfa Abdel Hadi.

Watfa uses the French "decoupage" technique and Arabian calligraphy to decorate the vases and decoration pieces she is show-Decoupage, an ancient old art, is based on form, design and fine technique. Introduced to Europe in the 15th century, it was taken by Portuguese and Spanish travellers to Japan and China. In recent years it was introduced to Egypt by Laila Safawat, from where Watfa picked it up. She now wants to spread it in Kuwait.

Exhibition organiser Soad Al Arfaj, a Kuwaiti, is displaying beautiful handmade semi-precious stone and silver jewellery. Soad said she got the idea of an exclusive handicrafts show after seeing handicrafts in the homes of her friends and colleagues. "Many of my friends added a touch of individuality to their homes with art objects made by them. I wanted more people to see what women can do in their spare time," she said. Soad feels that most women "while away their time" and should take up a creative hobby to better use

The exhibition was opened by Sheikha Sabiha Ahmed Al Sabah. It will be open today and on Friday from 9 am to 12 noon and 4 to 8.30 pm.

● All entries for the What's On column must be handed over personally to Events Section, from 12 noon to 4 pm, at the Arab Times Office in Shuwalkh. Photographs will also be considered for publication. Phoned-in entries will not be accepted.

BEIJING, (Reuter): China gave President Bush a slap in the face by stopping a leading dissident from attending his farewell banquet and clearly demonstrated its resolve to quash any internal dis-

Bush told his hosts at Beijing airport at the end of his visit that he regretted police had prevented Professor Fang Lizhi from going to the Sunday dinner.

Bush "expressed his regret" to Vice-Premier Wu Xueqian and asked the US ambassador to China to follow up the matter, a US embassy spokesman said.

"I think the government does not like my opinion on ... more democracy, freedom of speech and freedom of thinking," said Fang, an outspoken supporter of political reform who was expelled from the Communist Party two years ago. Declined

Chinese officials declined immediate comment on the incident and state-run newspapers made no mention of it on Monday.

Western diplomats said Bush, a former US envoy to China, had seriously offended his hosts by inviting Fang and two other dissident intellectuals to a Texanstyle barbecue which was attended by several hundred guests including Chinese President Yang Shangkun.

"Their response was a slap in the face for Bush," said one

Asked to comment on the bad publicity China had brought on itself, another envoy said: When it comes to the security and integrity of the Chinese state ... they are willing to ignore these international considerations.

Red Cross brings crutches and voice of conscience to Kabul

By Oilver Wates

KABUL, (Reuter): It takes more than the threat of a vicious civil war to drive the Red Cross out of Kabul, where it struggled for seven years to gain a foothold.

The Swiss-based organisation

now provides top-class hospital treatment, crutches for the crippled, and above all a nagging voice of conscience for both the government and its rebel oppon-

"I tell you frankly that I don't know what the future will bring," said the Red Cross's dynamic chief delegate Jean-Jacques Fresard. "But the people of Afghanistan need us and we cannot stop any of our activities for too long.

Virtually all Western states, fearing for their diplomats' safety, closed their embassies before a final Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan on Feb 15. The International Committee of the Red Cross sent 23 nonoperational staff to New Delhi. But 40 more stayed, most of them Swiss, by far the largest group of Westerners left in Kabul.

And after nearly two weeks of peace and quiet in the Afghan capital, the 23 are returning. We have a duty always to prepare for a worst-case scenario but it did not happen." Fresard said, referring to fears Kabul would become a battleground as the Western-backed rebels tried to overthrow President Najibullah's government. The Red Cross Orthopaedic Centre, closed on Feb 8, reopened on March 1. It is desperately needed. When it began fitting artificial legs and issuing crutches and ago, it drew 1,600 patients in three days. The waiting list stretches until 1991.

"We guess that there are already some 20,000 amputees in this country," Fresard said. "When the refugees come back from Pakistan and Iran, we know that there will be more, maybe hundreds, maybe thousands.

The comfortable Red Cross hospital in a converted private house has 50 beds but a new 100bed ward is ready for when the 10-year-old civil war hots up again.

"We only take war-wounded, that is what we are here for," said nurse Esther Stebler, 31, from Basel in Switzerland. Problem

"Mines are a big problem but we also have gunshot wounds to the chest, explosions, rockets, frostbite, reconstruction surgery and so on. You have to have a really broad variety of skills to be a surgeon in a place like this." One small boy was badly burned when a box of military flares, used to deflect rebel anti-aircraft missiles, exploded while he was playing with it.

There are nine expatriate nur-ses and two three-person surgical teams, one from Finland, the other from Britain. "We are exactly the number we need. Nobody can afford to get sick," Stebler said. Since it opened on Oct 1 last year, the hospital has trained its own Afghan staff. We could not take away the few medical staff there are in Afghanistan," she said. "You are teaching all day long, explaining everything 200 times, it's very tiring. Some people hardly understand English and we have to turn them into good Afghanistan is overwhelmingly Muslim, which brings its own problems. "You can't expect the have to do that ourselves.' Stebler says.

Some women patients are loath to take off the burgas. "Sometimes we have to cut holes in the burques to treat a wound,"

The Red Cross also distributes medicine to other hospitals and clinics in Kabul. But its main task, for which it was founded 125 years ago, is more political.

We are here to convince the parties to the confict to respect international humanitarian law, 'Fresard said. The Red Cross operates in a country only if its delegates, who are all Swiss, are allowed to visit all political prisoners regularly and in private. It took from 1980 to 1987 before the Red Cross was satisfied it could start work in Afghanistan and the delegation was set up in March 1988.

Fresard, hardened through observing battles at Palestinian camps in Lebanon, seemed almost surprised at the success of this side of the mission.

Prisoners "We are sure that we have seen 90 per cent of sentenced political prisoners in Afghanistan," he said. "It's not just here, we also visit prisoners held by the muja-hedeen (rebels) on the other side.

"Both sides are playing the game, I am really amazed," he said. "It doesn't cost them anything politically, they are really giving us an easy time."
An important task re-establishing contact between prisoner and their families. Letters at delivered around the coming and the refugee camps in Pakis

Class divisions provoking internal debate in Nicaragua

By Brook Larmer

MANAGUA, Nicaragua: Two worlds converge at Managua's exclusive "dollar" store.

Strolling through the air-con-ditioned aisles inside, well-dressed Nicaraguans stack their grocery carts with expensive American goods that can only be bought with United States dollars or government coupons. In the parking lots outside, bedraggled children badger shoppers for coins, food — anything to help them survive.

Such stark class divisions are merely considered an unfortunate fact of life in many other developing countries. But in Nicaragua, where the 1979 com-munist revolution promised to erase class barriers and lift the hving standards of poor workers, the resurgence of social inequality is provoking an intense internal debate on the nature - and future - of the revolution. "The revolution now finds itself at a crossroads," says Francisco Lopez, director of the National Institute for Social and Economic Investigations, a hard-line socialist think tank. "The government has thrown so many bones to the producers and the professionals that they've become elites.... It's a total contradiction of our revolutionary ideals."

For the most part, Lopez and other economic experts say, the widening social gap stems from a austerity government. programme to lift Nicaragua out of it's worst economic crisis ever.

So far, the market-oriented policy has flopped.

Since President Daniel Ortega unveiled the first reforms last February, they have spurred hyperinflation (officially 23,000 per cent for 1988), sapped workers' purchasing power (down an estimated 96 per cent in 1988), leaving a nearly $700 million trade deficit.

The Sandinistas have virtually abandoned the once-favoured working class as they try desperately to jumpstart the productive sector. In June, the govern-ment laid off nearly 10,000 state workers and cut guaranteed prices for vegetables paid to farmers. Even more damaging was the removal of food subsidies for the poor.

Today, more than 21 per cent of all working-age Nicaraguans have no permanent employment. And for those with jobs, the typical wage is $8 a month, enough to buy just 20 per cent of one's basic food needs.

Even as the poor get squeezed, the government is bestowing privileges and incentives on large agricultural exporters and trained professionals in the sprawling state bureaucracy. Some bureaucrats now receive free housing, household goods, coupons for the "dollar" store, even Toyota Cressidas Nicaragua's new symbol of suc-Embittered

Such favouritism, with 50-per cent cuts in most social programmes, have embittered several pro-government unions and long-time Sandinista supporters.

"The Sandinistas have turned this into a revolution of the clite," says a bitter ex-government worker who plans to migrate to the US. He says Sandinista comandantes, top bureaucrats, and, now, traditional exporters are all getting rich from what was sup-posed to be the "people's revolution."

"It's no different than (in the era of dictator Anastasio Somoza)," he says, "except that you have a different set of people robbing the poor." But many economic experts

ONE of the things that seems to have gotten Sen. Tower into so much trouble is the fact that he worked as a consultant on defence contracts: He is supposed to have made $775,000 at this job. What does someone have to deliver to earn this kind of dough? I couldn't guess, so I asked another defence consultant, Roy Chardonnay, to tell me exactly what people like him did for that sort of money. "It's too complicated to explain," he said. "You would be much better off if you came with me on my rounds. My first stop is the office of Flatwing Aviation, that keeps me on a $250,000 retainer. Whenever they have a problem, I come running."

An hour later we were inthe offices of Scotty Hoopster, CEO of Flatwing. He was pacing up and down.

"I don't understand those SOBs in the Pentagon. We gave them the finest plane that money could buy, and now they want a rebate because there are cracks in the wings. Roy, should we go public and attack them for this?"

Hoopster continued, "We're not just talking about money, Roy. We're talking about criminal charges. The Pentagon said we kept two sets of books on the job. If the attorney general goes after us, we're sitting ducks. What should I do about that?"

Roy opened his

notebook again: "If you can keep your head when all about you are losing theirs and blaming it on you;/ If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you; / but make allowance for their doubting too; / Or being lied about don't deal in lies, or being hated, don't give way to hating;/ And don't look too good or talk too wise. Hoopster shouted. "Will you shut up and give me a game plan? We've got two weeks before the grand jury convenes. Now, Roy, you know how things operate in this town. Do we stonewall like Ollie North, and use the national security defence ploy, or do we make a deal with the Justice Department? I don't think we've got a prayer to beat

To my amazement, Roy went back to the loose-leaf book once more. He read aloud, "Somebody said that it couldn't be done/ But he with a chuckle replied/ That 'maybe it couldn't' but he would be one who wouldn't say so'/ till he tried/ So he buckled right in with a trace of a grin, on his face/ If he worried he hid it/ He started to sing as he tackled the thing/ That couldn't be done and he did it."

"I'm only here to give you advice. I'm not going to tell you what to do. If you want me to go further. it will cost you another $100,000."

"I do want you to tell me what to do. Here's a cheque.

Roy stood up and looked directly at Hoopster, "If vou can't be a pine on the top of the hill/ Be a scrub in the valley — but be/ The best little scrub by the side of the rill; Be a bush if you can't be a tree/If you can't be a bush be a bit of the grass, and some highway happier make; If you can't be a muskie then just be a bass, / But the liveliest bass just did." "You need someone from outside who isn't emotionally involved,"

Roy told him. When we got out of the building, I said to Roy, "You really helped him by giving him the big picture. Now I can see why you get paid so well."

He shrugged his shoulders, "The only thing you have to sell when you're a consultant is your brains. 1989, Los Angeles Times

Seeking out the weird and bizarre

By Gregory Jenson

LONDON, (UPI): A new television show and book on "curious houses" proves again that if there's anything bizarre in Britain, Lucinda Lambton ... who is more than a little bizarre herself — will find it.

Two of her earlier books were photographs of peculiar toilets.

Another, called Beastly Buildgs, depicted weird structures temple for pigs, a pyramid for poultry, a stable so beautiful its owner held a banquet in it.

As she shows again in An Album Of Curious Houses. Lambton's inestimable service is to discover physical proofs of British eccentricity - like a Victorian fish's grave or bracelet made from the thighs of flies which are there for anyone to

Now she has uncovered houses built inside a church, a tree house up its tree for 300 years, a doomed smoking room built under water, houses triangular and circular, houses bizarre and beautiful, houses decorated with unspeakable

Pixie-faced Lambton, 46, is a photographer. For 22 years this "not entirely uneccentric" daughter of a lord her father owns three castles -- has been in tireless pursuit of the weird and the bizarre. She puts her discoveries into A Grecian temple for pigs, a pyramid for poultry and a stable so beautiful its owner held a banquet in it! These are the things that occupy the life of a 46-year-old British eccentric who has put her discoveries in the books and a television show.

In "Houses" TV show recently she clambered onto the roof of a herring watchman's hut, her hair wildly unkempt, and stood there madly waving flags while hallooing strange strangulated cries.

Critics strain for words to describe her "madcap commentaries of shricks, belly laughs and exclamation marks" or "gurgling gales of laughter and joyous adandonment of the conven-

Some people think she's slightly mad. Others think her a national treasure.

In the very first sentence of 'Curious Houses," Lambton books, like her new "Curious "" In one TV show she climbed onto a sedate wheeled 18th century library staircase, gave a mighty push and whizzed off with an irresistible eruption of giggles and whoops.

For her latest book she found 36 odd houses. One is shaped like a giant pineapple. Another is a cottage disguised as a flint-towered church. She found a house with a facade like an Egyptian tomb, and a super-modern one without a straight line or right angle in it.

Lambton delights not only in these weird dwellings but in their creators, like "a magnate of American mines, Whitaker

In the late 1890s, she records, Wright employed 400 to 500 men for seven years to level hills, fill in old lakes, dig three new ones and construct a complex called Whitley Park which must have been unsurpassed for curiosity.

His underwater smoking room," one of the oddest rooms in England," was "part of a labyrinthine network of ramps, tunnels and chambers, some

Wright, a man after her own heart, once sent a traction engine to fetch a huge Italian fountain which the railways refused to transport. When the traction engine "came to a bridge that it could not pass under, (he) ordered that the road be lowered until it could."

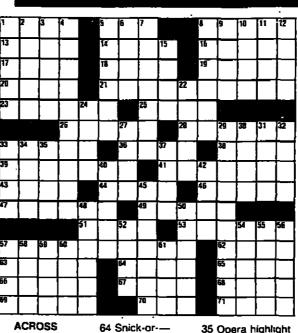

Lambton equally delights in Pitchford Hall, a vast 400-yearold timbered manor, whose late owner took up residence in a tiny tree house which has been there at least since it was depicted in a 1714 painting. This aristocratic lady, her dress and makeup weirdly exotic, shouted her wants through a megaphone to her butler on the lawn far below.

Lambton especially admires the "almost lunatic quirkiness" behind Horsley Towers, a mock castle of Bavarian splendor rising from a moat in Southern England, built in the mid-1800s by Lord Byron's son-in-law.

She dotes upon "the gnarled and scrunched-up facade of the jungle," phantasmagoric 1820s front wall which now conceals a 'magnificent modern mansion' of almost equal peculiarity.

Dozens of her discoveries, Lucinda Lambton says with typical verbal emphasis, "could drive one into an aesthetic delerium, an ecstasy," She finds so many wondrously strange things, she cries, that her "life is such a joy.

In Paris, dogs dress as well as their masters!

By Elizabeth Ricci

PARIS (UPI): In the fashion capital of the world. Marie Poiner has found a niche that also caters to another French passion the poodles, terriers and other pooches that ride the subway, stroll the Champs Eissees and frequent some of the world's finest restaurants. A trend-setter in canine fashion. Poirier specializes in designing outfits for dog and master who enjoy dressing alike in stylish raincoats, matching ski parkas or identical faux furs. "Everything I create for dogs follows the latest fushion trends." Poirier says of the embroidered collurs, customlailored rain slickers, parkas and designer sweaters displayed in the dog boutique, one of her two Paris shops.

"But I also make sure that whatever I create is in good taste and comfortable for the dog." For example, her 150-franc ($25) set of four snow boots not available for masters protects the wearer's paws from salt used to melt winter's snow and ice.

Poiner says business is booming, hardly a surprise in a city that offers dogs plenty of opportunity to show off their style.

Motorcyclists pack small dogs in leather cases under the steering columns of their bikes. Hotels often quote a rate for dogs.

"Dogs have a very important role in France," Poirier says. "The French have a very humane side to them. "It's not like in the United states, where show dogs are kept inside almost their whole lives. In France they live like we do - they have normal lives."

Canine life does involve a few constraints, especially in the crowded capital, where an estimated 300,000 dogs coexist with 2.1 million people. Parisian dogs are supposed to

It could be goodbye for Sri Devi (right) and Mithun in Guru.

Chunky (right) seems displeased with Meenakshi and Bindu in the romantic tale Tadap.

Variations on an oft-repeated theme

A whole crop of new films are on the verge

AS the plots of some forthcoming films are revealed to us, there is a gradual feeling of being let down once again. When will Indian films break away from the stereo-typed and hackneyed themes? One expects new fare from new films as is the case in Hollywood and other film centres, but Bollywood does not follow these norms. And the worst part is that these new films are being attractively labelled and packaged for contents that are of an inferior quality. Two or three films which have just been seen reveal an interesting pattern. Something unusual was expected from K. Vishwanath's Eeshwar, with Anil Kapoor taking a new kind of hero image. Here he is a good-hearted but mentally retarded youth, in a small town. The sole reason for his existence is to help others. He finds a suffering widow thrown out along with her son. So he gives them support, goes through fire and water to take their side and enters into an unconventional marriage with the backing of his old grandmother. This is fresh reformist thinking for a Hindi film. But then. routine villainy comes in the form of his uncle, who eyes his property and this leads to the usual lathi fight.

Character

The point is that if a new character is created, then it must be faithfully sustained. This can he done only by avoiding familiar repetitions. There is no need to make him "godly" enough to be called Ishwar. A hero as a good human being is far better. Anyway, a similar role has already been performed to perfection by Kamalhasan with Sri Devi in a Tamil film, re-made as Solva Sawan with Amol Palekar, Neither Amol nor Anil have been able to reach Kamal's heights as a semi crippled and addle-headed creature Still, Eeshwar is credited with some ments, by breaking new ground with a new heroine, Vijay Shanti, giving an old man's garb to Anil breaking some pet traditions, and playing on emotional values. For Anil Kapoor too it is a chance to show his histrionic talents as a man growing out of a mental cocoon.

This cannot be said, however, of Mahun in Umesh Mehra's Guru, another title of supremacy for the hero. Here he keeps the viewers in suspense about being either a dedicated police officer or an enemy agent.

Story As a bonus there are two Sri Devis in the film. She has a double role and a dozen different disguises, hair styles, contact lenses, etc. It's evident that the director wants to make a song and dance about it rather than tackle a laut narrative.

And there is hardly much in a crime story, where the mother wants to make the hero into a great cop, whereby he joins the force by fraud, default and a secret arrangement, while his heroine veers between being a good and a bad girl. Even technical razzle-dazzle can't hide such a tale.

Vinod Khanna: playing a toughie in Sanjay Khan's Surzameen ... while Sunny and Shekhar Suman try the same in Tridev.

Ram Lakhan declared a big film but an average success has recycled the Deewar design of two brothers and a good mother. The two are on the same side of the law, for a change, but one is worse than a smuggler in cop's clothing. This hero's mischievous pranks, songs and titillations are supposed to fill the gap of a good new story. It seems Subhas Ghai needs some lessons from the great ones like Cecil B. Demille. Hitchcock or even Mehboob Khan before grabbing the title of a great showman.

The plot patterns of Ram Lak-han will, however, be blindly followed by many films to come, because there are no writers with imagination and no producers with guts.

The film is making a desperate bid to make Chunky a solo hero. since the only other one in support is the namby pamby Shekhar Suman. Yet, parallel hero roles are again coming in vogue, with the two men as friends, foes or brothers.

Jagdish Sidana (husband of Padma Khanna) is completing Sher Dil which has two such characters played by Dharmen-dra and Rishi Kapoor, aided by Anita Raj and Kimi. A peep into how film makers prepare their paperwork is evident from what Sidana says: "I selected two fights is Deepak Sareen's Ranboomi. Shatrughan Sinha and Jeetendra are the main players but a third twist comes in the form of Rishi Kapoor as a wanderer, who preaches nonviolence but has to sacrifice him-self. Rishi is obviously drawn in the image of his late father, who did a similar role for his own dacoit drama Jis Desh Mein Ganga Behti Hai. Don't be surprised if Laxmikant-Pyarelal churn out similar songs too and Rishi sings them with a 'dafli' in hand, like Aa ab laut chale. Sanjay Khan's feature film Surzameen (which he was making apart from the TV serial Tippu Sultan.) also has two powerful men played by Vinod Khanna and himself. These two clash and want to destroy each other. Unknown to them they are brothers and the mother is like Kunti in Mahabharat. Moreover, she herself does not know who is the legitimate son and who the other one is. Then there is a peace-loving guru, played by Anupam Kher, whose wise words try to remove hate from the hearts of the two men. All this is set against the colourful panorama of deserts, so that the ethnic show would hide the weak point of the story.

Spectacular

Gulshan Rai's son Rajiv Rai is also making another big spectacular Tridev. Many stars are involved, since a big banner means big money, whatever the role may be and even if the director has a flop like Yudh to his credit. So Sunny, Jackie. Naseeruddin Shah, Madhuri. Sonam. Sangeeta and Anupam Kher are playing the roles, but the story is of the usual crime thriller type. Three men come together to fight against lawbreakers.

But then they begin to break their own laws. To avoid any accusing fingers of plagiarism, the director says: "It might resemble something, because all films tend to resemble something or the other."

Raj Sippy's Mahadev with Vinod Khanna is again about a hero, in the image of Lord Shiva, who successfully fights against exploration of the poor by antisocial forces in a small area. (The whole film has been shot in Ooty).

With a comparatively small set-up, a film called Shadyantra with Hema Malini, Raj Babbar, Supriya and Aloknath, shows a woman journalist, an honest cop, a rape victim and the evildoer who has to be brought to book. The director Rajen John frankly calls it a commercial story of crime and law. Another crime story is Andher Gardi with Rai Babbar taking a political

Romantic controversy

The up and coming starlet Archana Joglekar has been dragged into a romantic controversy with director Dilip Shankar, who made Kaalchakra and is now doing Aatank Hi Aatank. QUESTION: One of the most frightening things has happened to me. The whole left side of my face fell down, and I can't even smile. My doctor has diagnosed this as Bell's Palsy and assures me that I'll soon be better, but I need more information. Will you please help me? ANSWER: When an entire half side of a face suddenly becomes weak and unresponsive, the most common cause is Bell's Palsy, the result of pressure on the facial nerve. Although the cause is unknown, it's felt to be a viral or immune disease in which the facial nerve swells within the ear bone causing a pressure that damages the nerve.

A number of tests are usually performed to assure an accurate diagnosis, including a hearing test, a balance test, a taste test, Xrays to locate infections, tumours or other abnormalities in the bone, and an electrical test to check the function of the nerve. Once these tests have been carefully performed, the diagnosis of Bell's Palsy is relatively easy. And in many cases, so is the treatment, for complete recovery within several months invariably follows partial facial paralysis.

It may be necessary to place a patch on the eye temporarily to protect the delicate corneal tissue, and the use of glasses to prevent dust particles from blowing into an eye unprotected by a blink reflex is also a good tip. Remain calm, and the chances are you'll be fine in a few months.

OUESTION: Could you please discuss the meaning of the word "demyelination" as it refers to nerve disease. Thank you.

ANSWER: "Demyelination" is a process we see in nerve disease where the insulating sheath that covers many nerve fibres, called "myelin," is either injured or degenerates because of lack of oxygen, toxic agents or metabolic disorders.

Myelin is composed of layers of lipoprotein (fats and protein combination) and promotes the transmission of the electrical nervous impulses along the axon of the nerve. When the myelin degenerates, the axon dies, and the impulses can no longer prompt muscles to work, or carry the sensory sensations to the brain.

Some types of metabolic congenital disease, such as Tay-Sachs, Niemann-Pick and Gaucher's Disease, affect the developing myelin sheath, causing widespread neurological disease. When demyelination occurs in the central nervous system as a basic cause of several diseases, they are known as primary demyelinating diseases. Multiple sclerosis is perhaps the most common of these. In many cases, the myelin can regenerate and repair itself with the return of nery function, or remission. Unfortunately degeneration can recur with the pattern of disease exacerbation and remission being common. It's difficult to know from your letter exactly what you wish to know, bul I hope this information is helpful.

US eases controls on technology exports to China

(Reuter): The United States has eased its restrictions on a wide range of technology shipments to China, the Commerce Department announced yesterday.

It said the relaxed export restrictions, reflecting closer ties with China, would include trade in telecommunications equipment and electronics and precision instruments.

The department said the eased export controls followed agreements by the Co-ordinating Committee on multilateral Export Controls (COCOM), formed after World War II to curb the exports of advanced technology to communist nations.

Changes Undersecretary for Export Administration Paul Freedenburg said, "The changes reflect recognition by the United States and its COCOM allies of the continuing improvements in rela-tions with the PRC and our willingness to support improvements in China's civilian industrial sector." He said that China's $370 billion economy, growing at 10 per cent a year, needed basic technology to meet its develop-ment needs and market objec-

The new export regulations, which have also been eased in recent years for technology shipments to other communist countries, lift many of the adminis-trative controls that had delayed or prevented American exports. Restrictions

The Commerce Department had long advocated eased restrictions on the export of some technology but had been opposed by the Defence Department, which had feared that some new technologies could be used for warmaking purposes.

Department officials argued, however, that much of the tech-nology restricted by US regulations was readily available from other developed countries and the restrictions only injured American exporters.

In addition to telecommunications and electronic and precision instruments, controls were eased in trade in metalworking machinery, chemical and petroleum equipment, electrical and power-generating equip-ment and chemical and petroleum products.

Meanwhile, Federal Reserve chairman Alan Greenspan, warning inflationary pressures may be gathering force in the US economy, said Congress should reduce the huge budget deficit if it wants to help lower interest rates.

"The large increases in producer finished goods and consumer price indexes in January could be early warnings that the cost-price process is gathering force," Greenspan told the Senate Budget Committee yesthe economy grew at a brisk 3.8 per cent rate after inflation. The government reported that inflation began to gather speed in the final quarter of 1988. The news heightens pressure on the Fed to further tighten credit in order to curb inflation, particularly in light of early data that showed both consumer and producer prices jumping in Janway or the other.

The Commerce Department said yesterday the implicit price deflator, a broad gauge of infla-tion that measures price changes in total economic output not just consumer goods, rose at a 5.3 per cent rate between October and December and not by 4.7 per cent as it estimated a month ago. The deflator was up by 4.7 per cent in the third quarter. Inflation gathered speed even though the economy slowed down to a two per cent annual growth rate from 2.5 per cent in the third quarter. For all of 1988

The Fed chief told Congress the revisions in fourth-quarter gross national product, the nation's total production of goods and services, were technical and contained "no new significant economic information-...that would be of concern one Evidence

"We've got more of an inflation problem today than we've had since the early 1980s," said Aubrey Zaffuto of IBJ Schroder Bank and Trust Co in New York.

The Federal Reserve has been pushing up interest rates since last March in an effort to slow economic growth and curb the inflationary pressures Greenspan said were building up.

contribute to the problem. "They (deficits) tend to put inordinate strains on financial markets and they directly fuel excess demand on resources," he said.

Greenspan said large deficits

If Congress succeeds in lowering the deficit, which is expected to top $163 billion year, "the balance restored to financial markets would be impressive and interest rates would come down," Greenspan told the budget panel.

The government also reported yesterday that the US trade deficit for the fourth quarter of 1988 rose to $32 billion on a balance of payments basis, up from a revised third quarter $29.2 billion.

For all of 1988, the shortfall was $126.5 billion, down from the 1987 figure of $160.3 billion.

Balance of payments figures report trade data that exclude military sales and the cost of insurance and shipping.

Amsterdam offers

World Business Summary

to host commodity pacts

LONDON, March 1, (Reuter): Amsterdam has become the third city to offer to host the international sugar and wheat organisations following similar moves by Paris and Brussels to lure them away from London, officials of the two trade groups said yester-day. Details of the offer are due to be sent to the International Sugar Organisation (ISO) and International Wheat Council (TWC) in the near future, delegates said after the first joint meeting of the two organisations' executive committees. The organisations face a rent increase of around 300 per cent on the London property they share when the lease runs out at the end of the year. The joint meeting was called to examine the possibility of a move. Delegates said Amsterdam had the advantage of being a likely headquarters for the United Nations Common Fund for Commodities, which starts operating later this year. The British government has so far refused to increase its assistance to the pacts. Delegates said a number of sites in London had been examined but all appeared unsatisfactory either because of location or cost. London also hosts the International Coffee Organisation (ICO) and International Cocoa Organisation (ICCO). The next joint ISO/IWC meeting will take place on April 18 when Paris and possibly Brussels and Amsterdam will send teams to detail their offers. A final decision will rest with the

$120m Arab Fund loan for Egypt

CAIRO, March 1, (Reuter): The Arab Fund for Economic and Social Development (AFESD) signed an agreement today grant-ing Egypt a soft loan of 35 million Kuwaiti dinars ($120 million) to build a power station. The loan, repayable over 19 years after a grace period of six years and at an interest rate of three per cent, is the largest Egypt has received since its readmission to Arab funds last year. Last June, the United Arab Emirates' Fund for Arab Economic Development granted Egypt a soft loan of $75 million for desert reclamation — the first after a nine-year suspension because of Cairo's peace with Israel. A spokesman for the Egyptian Ministry of International Economic Co-operation said the new loan will be used to finance a power station in Damietta, 190 kms (118 miles) north of Cairo. Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak last week visited the United Arab Emirates and Kuwait as part of his efforts to improve ties with Arab countries. Egypt, which has an annual trade deficit of more than $5 billion, has sought Arab help to improve its economy.

Abadan refinery to reopen in April

NICOSIA, March 1, (AP): Iran's giant Abadan oil refinery, which has a capacity of 130,000 barrels a day, will restart operations on April 12, the official Islamic Republic News Agency reported last week. The agency, monitored in Nicosia, said the refinery's burner was rekindled Feb 11 to mark the 10th anniversary of the Islamic revolution. It said that Deputy Prime Minister for Executive Affairs, Hamid Mirzadeh, inspected the refinery reconstruction operations on Tuesday and later visited war-damaged locations in the cities of Abadan and Khorram-shahr. The two oil-refining and loading cities, located on the east bank of the Shatt Al-Arab waterway 50 miles (80 kms) north of the tip of the Gulf, sustained heavy damage early in the eight-year Iran-Iraq war. Reconstruction of the war-crippled oil installations began immediately after a UN-sponsored ceasefire was reached last August.

Mexico sees IMF spring meeting affecting debt talks

MEXICO CITY, March 1, (Reuter): Progress in restructuring Mexico's $100-billion debt will depend heavily on discussions at the IMF interim committee meeting in April, the Finance Ministry said yesterday.

In a communique issued after Finance Minister Pedro Aspe's return from a tour of Canada and five European countries to discuss Mexican debt rescheduling proposals, it said the talks had been useful.

Importance "In the various meetings it was clear that great importance is placed on the interim committee meetings," it said. The ministry gave no indica-tion of any specific response to Mexico's plan but said a dialogue would continue over the next few weeks on concrete proposals presented to the US financial authorities and international fin-ancial agencies.

Aspe, accompanied by Banco de Mexico director-general Miguel Mancera and undersecretary for international financial affairs Angel Gurria, visited Washington earlier this month.

Taiks The ministry said Aspe stres-sed in his talks in Europe that Mexico must reduce net transfers abroad as soon as possible, and that the financial authorities undertook to speed up consultations culminating in the International Monetary Fund meeting in April.

Various technical and operative mechanisms were reviewed for reducing debt service, as well as regulatory, accounting, fiscal and legal considerations in each country.

Anglo-Dutch Unilever raises profits by 10pc

LONDON, March 1, (Reuter): Anglo-Dutch giant Unilever PLC-NV said today its pre-tax profits rose 10 per cent in 1988 to $1.45 billion ($2.52 billion). The group, whose products range from detergents to frozen

Its sales totalled £17.12 billion ($29.79 billion) in 1988 against £16.55 billion ($28.80 billion) the year before "1988 was another year of substantial progress throughout our business, reffecting our emphasis on profitable growth," chairman Michael Angus said. The results were in line with market expectations and Unilever PLC shares were quoted in London at £5.33 ($9.27) by midmorning, three pence (5.2 cents) down yesteray. Unilever said internal growth remained its priority, though it noted acquisitions during 1988 totalled $630 million. A number of strategic areas had been targetted for investment, including the skin care and fragrances markets.

Unilever earlier this month announced it was buying the Faberge and Elizabeth Arden businesses for $1.55 billion. The purchase from the Riklis Family Corp of the United States would add Faberge, Brut, Aquanet, Elizabeth Arden and the prestigious Chloe and Lagerfeld perfumes to Unilever's range of brands and would pit it against L'Oreal of France for the number one position in the global personal products market.

UAE unveils comprehensive industrialisation plan

ABU DHABI, March 1, (OPECNA): The General Corporation for Industry (GCI) has prepared a "comprehensive" plan for the industrialisation of the emirate of Abu Dhabi until the year 2000, GCI president Hassan Moussa Al Qanzi said here yesterday.

Al Qamzi said the plan prepared in co-operation with a leading international firm, followed a comprehenisve industrial survey and extenive studies in the United Arab Emirates and neighbouring countries.

The objective, he added, was to select a number of industries with good economic returns that could be based on available resources and not require a large workforce.

He referred to several areas where broad-based industries could be established, including enterprises based on "cheap and available sources of energy," such as aluminium smelters and iron ore and steel plants, adding that industries producing construction materials, furniture, textiles and foodstuff would be needed to meet local demand.

Al Qamzi said that the GCI plan recommended protection for newly-formed industries against foreign competition. Also needed was regulation of customs tariffs to guard against imported products which were cheaper, though of inferior quality compared with local Radio reported yesterday.

The radio, monitored in Nicosia, quoted Finance Minister Mohammad Javad Iravani as saying Iran expected to raise one trillion rials ($14 billion) from the "national co-operation tax for reconstruction.'

He said the government was counting on the revenue for its budget in the next Iranian year beginning on March 21. "If it does not materialise, the budget deficit will increase by the same amount," the radio quoted him as saying. Total government spending proposed for the next Iranian year is 3.856 trillion rials ($55 billion). The budget bill. now in parliamentary committees, must be approved by March 21.

Tehran's Resalat daily said last month budget deficits in the past several years had pushed the total internal debt to 10 trillion rials ($140 billion).

Iravani said the aim of the tax was to channel resources from unproductive holdings to industrial and agricultural investment. Assets

Third World exports increase

(OPECNA): The per capita income of many Third World debtor nations fell last year despite a net increase in their exports, according to a report issued today by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade

The debate scene was marked by rising interest rates and lack of fresh capital inflows. The trade performance of OPEC countries was better in 1988 than in 1987, with their exports rising by 8.5 per cent, compared to a fall of two per cent in 1987. Their imports fell by 1.5 per cent, compared with a 13.5 per cent fall in 1987. However, they still compared poorly with the average 12 per cent increase recorded by Third World coun-tries as a group.

The report said that OPEC's inability to match the import per-formance of other developing countries, despite an increase in its oil exports, was the result of the fall in oil prices and a six per cent increase in the prices of imported manufactured goods.

Best

The world trade volume went up in 1988 by 8.5 per cent - and in dollar terms by 14 per cent. This was the best performance recorded since 1984. Inflation rates were low and investment was high, indicating that there was little danger of recession, although inflation and protectionism continued to cause anx-

The United States, West Germany and Japan continued to dominate world trade, with the first absorbing 15.6 per cent of world imports, followed by West Germany (8.4 per cent) and Japan (6.3 per cent). However, West Germany led in exports (11.4 per cent), followed by the United States (11.3 per cent) and Japan (9.3 per cent).

GATT said trade growth in terms of volume was experienced not only in manufactured goods (10 per cent), but also in mining, including petroleum (seven per cent) and in agricultural products (four per cent).

East European debt on the rise: OECD

PARIS, March 1, (AP): Eastern European countries are likely to go deeper into debt and have to pay higher interest rates, the Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development said

Eastern European borrowers may need to broaden and diversify their soruces of credit by seeking new creditors in different geographical regions, the 24nation OECD commented in the latest edition of its Financial Market Trends, published three times a year.

The increased borrowing requirement could also oblige Eastern Europe to enter new markets such as bonds and leasing in an effort to diversify their sources of finance, the publica-

Reforms The OECD notes that Eastern Europe's current account position has weakened steadily since 1985, and says preliminary figures indicate a further moderate rise of hard-currency debt in 1983. It notes that the economic reforms currently under way can at best be expected to result in export gains only in the medium term. At the same time, demand for imports will remain strong in order to sustain investment programmes and to satisfy consumer demand. The report says the total debt for Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Romania and the Soviet Union grew from $82 billion in 1984 to $131 billion in 1987, the latest year for which full figures are available.

Poland was the most indebted country, with 39.3 billion in gross debt in 1987, followed by the Soviet Union with 36.7 billion. East Germany owed 19.9 billion, Hungary 17.7 billion, Bulgaria 6.3 billion, Romania 6.0 billion and Czechoslovakia 5.4 billion.

The OECD says that the rise in Eastern Europe's outstanding debt since 1985 has not been dramatic and that with the exception of Bulgaria, Hungary and Poland the debt burdens of Eastern European countries can still be characterised as 'light to moderate.

But the OECD goes on to say that the rising debt has resulted in increased vulnerability of Eastern European countries to a crisis of coincidence of Western

The OECD acknowledges, however, that international lenders generally still perceive Eastern Europe as being a relatively attractive place to do business with good risk-return ratios.

But it says there is an awareness of the need to watch the economic and political development of the region, and to notice the differences among the countries. Czechoslovakia, East Germany and the Soviet Union are seen as the most attractive borrowers at present, the OECD said.

The member nations of the Paris-based OECD are: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Britain, Canada, Denmark, Finland, France, Greece, Iceland, Ireland. Italy, Japan, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, the United States and West Ger-

LONDON SHARES DRIFT BUT UP AS RATE FEARS EASE

LONDON, MARCH 1, REUTER - SHARES WERE BELOW AFTERNOON HIGHS WHICH WERE TOUCHED ON RELIEF THAT TODAY'S U.K. JANUARY TRADE DATA DID NOT RESULT IN A HIKE IN 13 PCT BRITISH BASE RATES. PRICES DRIFTED DURING THE AFTERNOON WITH BUSINESS QUIETENING

ON LACK OF FOLLOW THROUGH BUYING AND WALL STREET'S RETREAT FROM ITS EARLY HIGHS, DEALERS SAID. BY 1534 CMT THE FISE 100 SHARE INDEX WAS UP 19.4 POINTS TO 2,021.8. THE INDEX TOUCHED A HIGH TODAY OF 2,028 AFTER THE TRADE DATA. YESTERDAY FISE BRIEFLY DIPPED BELOW 2,000 ON SPECULATION U.K. INTEREST RATES WOULD RISE IN RESPONSE TO TODAY'S FIGURES. THE TRADE FIGURES SHOWED THE U.K. JANUARY CURRENT ACCOUNT

DEFICIT WIDENED TO 1.7 BILLION STG AFTER THE DECEMBER GAP WAS REVISED TO 1.36 BILLION. DEALERS SAID INVESTORS WERE REASSURED BY A STATEMENT FROM BRITAIN'S TREASURY DEPARTMENT WHICH WARNED FINANCIAL MARKETS AGAINST PUTTING TOO MUCH EMPHASIS ON ONE MONTH'S FIGURES IN WHAT

HAS PROVED A HIGHLY VOLATILE STATISTICAL SERIES. THE TREASURY POINTED TO WHAT IT SAW AS A FALL IN IMPORTED CONSUMER GOODS AND SAID THAT WAS CONSISTENT WITH OTHER SIGNS THAT CONSUMER DEMAND WAS SLOWING. BRITAIN'S HIGH INTEREST RATE POLICY HAS BEEN AIMED AT DAMPENING CONSUMER DEMAND.

London Gold

LONDON, MARCH 1, REUTER - GOLD BULLION CAME UNDER PRESSURE IN AFTERNOON TRADING, FOLLOWING A SHARP DROP IN COMEX GOLD FUTURES, DEALERS SAID

GOLD WAS FIXED AT 384.05 DLRS AN OUNCE, DOWN FROM ITS MORNING SETTLEMENT OF 386.10 DLRS AND COMPARED TO YESTERDAY'S CLOSE OF 386.75/387.25. DEALERS SAID GOLD EASED FROM THE OPENING AGAINST A GENERALLY

FIRMER DOLLAR AND THEN MET SOME PANIC LONG LIQUIDATION WHEN THE U.S. MARKET OPENED WEAKER. HOWEVER, DEALERS EXPECT SUPPORT AT AROUND 382.50/383.00 DLRS.

London Money Market

LONDON, MARCH 1, REUTER - A BRITISH CURRENT ACCOUNT DEFICIT OF 1.7 BILLION STG IN JANUARY DID NOT PROVOKE AN IMMEDIATE RISE IN BRITISH INTEREST RATES BUT MARKET RATES IN LATE TRADING WERE WELL ABOVE THE LOWS THEY HAD REACHED BEFORE THE NEWS. AFTER CLOSING AT 13-7/16 5/16 PCT YESTERDAY, THE BENCHMARK THREE MONTH INTERBANK RATE REACHED A LOW OF 13-1/4 1/8 PCT THIS MCRNING AMEAD OF THE TRADE DATA BUT WAS QUOTED AT 13-3/8 1/4 PCT THIS AFTERNOON AFTER STERLING DIPPED BELOW 3.17 MARKS.

"THE TRADE FIGURES WEREN'T DESPERATE," SAID ONE MONEY BROKER, "BUT THEY CAN'T BE DESCRIBED AS GOOD. PEOPLE ARE WORRIED THAT GERMAN RATES WILL RISE TOMORROW AND HIT THE POUND."

Wall Street Market Report

NEW YORK, March 1, (Reuter): Wall Street stocks held their broad early gains on spreading hopes that interest rates have peaked. They also gained technical strength and support from futures-related program buying, traders said. West Germany and the UK were no longer expected to raise rates soon. The Dow 30 was up six at 2264 after rising to 2272 and bumping into profittaking. However, gainers led declining issues by two-to-two. Piper Jattray and Hopwood technical analyst Brian Luedtke said, "the market is recovering from an oversold condition." The Dow sank about 80 points last week. "Early gains in bonds and the dollar also helped," he said.

Turkey steps up oil drilling

DIYARBAKIR, Turkey. March 1, (Reuter): Turkey is stepping up oil drilling near the Iranian, Iraqi and Syrian frontiers under the gaze of Army troops on guard against Kurdish rebel attacks.

Oil wells, some with foreign participation, dot the landscape from the fertile Tigris valley near the southeastern city of Diyarbakir to inhospitable mountains facing Iran.

Turkey's state-run corporation, Tpao, said it produced 28,320 barrels per day (BPD) of oil in 1988 from 415 wells, mainly in the southeast, and planned 88 new onshore wells this year.

Seismological and drilling operations pose added problems for security forces, who have been battling rebels of the ban-ned Kurdish Workers Party (PKK) since mid-1984. The PKK is seeking autonomy for Turkey's estimated eight million Kurds.

Export

Apart from reported attacks on Iraq's oil export pipeline to the Mediterranean during the Iran-Iraq war, Turkish and foreign oilmen have hardly been bothered by the Marxist PKK.

But Turkey is taking no chances, especially if the PKK decides to strike at economic targets in a campaign that has claimed more than 1,300 lives, many of them Kurdish villagers.

"Wells are protected by nor-mal means. We tell the Interior Ministry before starting them. Thank God we have not had any attacks," Tpao production head Bumin Gurses told Reuters.

At a cluster of Tpao wells northeast of Diyarbakir, paramilitary gendarmerie forces are stationed at an oil camp in a prohibited military zone.

The Serhaban camp is one of three in the area, were Tpao says 34 of its wells are producing 4,500 BPD of oil.

Outside their single-storey barracks, soldiers were handing rifles to about 60 Kurdish men, each paid about 100,000 lira ($53) a month to act as guards in nearby villages.

Some live in a shanty village outside the concrete and barbedwire fence circling the barracks, another building housing five Tpao men, a garage and six small storage tanks.

Photographing buildings and people was banned.

Several foreign firms, including Royal Dutch Shell and Mobil of the United States, operate in the southeast. For some foreigners, a stint in the area is a promise of good times.

"I was very, very happy and we all got on very well with the local people," said a British seismologist who recently ended several years in the region.

"We were not working for the government so we never had any trouble. We were well protected but we would try to lose our guards because we did not want to be identified with the Army."

Kuwait dinar deposit rates iump

KUWAIT, March 1, (Reuter): Kuwaiti dinar interbank deposit rates jumped by more than one percentage point today in some periods after the yield rose on 91-day treasury bills.

The average yield on Tuesday's 100 million dinar ($350 million) treasury bill offering, which rolled over a previous issue, climbed to 8.367 per cent from 8.074 two weeks earlier. Dealers said it appeared the Central Bank was trying to push dinar interest rates up to match Eurodollar rates, which have been rising steadily over the last few weeks. They said the market was hec-tic but few actual trades were made. Most of these had been made by one Kuwaiti bank seeking one-month funds. Climbed

One-month rose to 9-7/8 3/8 per cent from 8-3/4 5/8 on Tuesday. Two and three months climbed to a uniform 9-1/48-3/4 from 8-3/4 1/2.

The Central Bank adjusted its dinar to dollar exchange rate to 0.28825/35 to the dollar from 0.28805/15 on Tuesday, with commercial banks quoting 0.28850/60.

Meanwhile, Saudi riyal interbank deposits eased in moderate trade in response to lower Eurodollar rates and technical factors ahead of the Gulf Friday weekend.

Dealers said trade focussed on short-term deposits and the spot riyal as operators bought dollars against the Saudi currency, reflecting perceptions a recent rise in US interest rates — which remain just above riyal deposits — had peaked.

Some arbitrage deals in the fixed periods were also reported but traders said the dollar-buying trend was not aggressive. Rates

"Overall, where dollar interest rates go the riyal will follow, one dealer said. "There are few other factors." The spot riyal eased sharply to 3.7516/19 to the dollar from quotes of 3.7505/09 on Tuesday, but this partly reflected a split value date ahead of the Friday weekend. Spot-next fell to 8-1/4, 7-3/4 per cent from 10-3/4, 1/4 while one-week eased 1/4 point to 9-5/8, 1/8.

Sterling at 4 1/2-month low against dollar

LONDON, March 1, (Reuter): Sterlingslid to a 4-1/2-month low against the dollar today after Britain reported its third biggest monthly trade deficit.

Analysts said the pound's fall was mainly due to waning confidence among dealers in Britain's economy after a surge in inflation and a series of poor trade figures in recent months.

Sterling's drop came despite support by the Bank of England, although the Central Bank spurchases succeeded in cushioning the currency's fall.

Views differed on whether interest rates would have to go up to support the pound, which the government wants strong to keep the lid on inflation, now running at 7.5 per cent. Increase

"The odds must still slightly favour an increase in (British) hase rates over the next couple of weeks," said David Walton. economist at Goldman Sachs International.

But Adam Bennett, senior economist at Shearson Lehman. noted the government would be increasingly reluctant to raise rates with the approach of the March 14 budget. "If they aren't up by tomorrow, they're unlikely to be raised at all," he said. $384.05 an ounce in afternoon trading in London compared to a Tuesday close of $387.

On oil markets, British Brent blend crude was quoted at about 20 cents higher at $16.60 a barrel for April delivery.

Dealers said the prospect of an imminent round of interest rate rises had receded, soothing investors' nerves.

One analyst said the fact that the West German Central Bundesbank had not scheduled a press conference for Thursday suggested that German interest rates would not be raised at least for another week.

French shares opened firm but trading was thin as many institutional investors stayed on the sidelines, dealers in Paris said.

Active

West German shares opened higher in active trade as the market continued to recover from recent sharp losses.

Hong Kong shares ended firmer although the market lacked direction, dealers said. Australian stocks were also firmer. The benchmark US Treasury 30-year bond was quoted in London around 98-26/32 per cent, yielding 9.11 per cent.

Investors

Dealers said investors were reassured by a statement from Britain's Treasury Department which warned financial markets against putting too much emphasis on one month's figures what has proved a highly volatile statistical series.

The Treasury pointed to what it saw as a fall in imported consumer goods and said that was consistent with other signs that consumer demand was slowing. Britain's high interest rate policy was been aimed at dampening consumer demand.

NNPC to be commercially integrated oil company, says Babangida

LAGOS, March 1, (OPECNA): Nigerian President Ibrahim Babangida has stressed the need for the Nigerian National Petroleum Company (NNPC) to be a commercially integrated international oil company engaged in exploration, production, processing, transportation and marketing of crude oil, gas and products.

Swearing in the 13-member NNPC board here yesterday. Babangida traced the exploration of oil in Nigeria back to 1908 and its discovery in 1956 and the important role it had played in the country.

The President noted that NNPC would maintain its 'important role" in Nigeria's long-term economic development through the promotion of gas and petroleum based-indus-

He said the expansion of the oil and gas industry was a top government priority and every effort would be made to ensure their implementation, effective adding that the government had already approved the establishment of 11 NNPC subsidiaries.

These subsidiaries, Babangida said, were being incorporated as limited liability companies to carry out business activities and urged the board to ensure that they were run autonomously within the overall policy framework established by the board itself to maintain the integrated nature of the corporation.

He explained that the government had deemed it necessary to reconstitute the NNPC board three years after the dissolution of the old one so that international oil industry develop-ments and the growth of NNPC could be properly monitored.

China authorised to buy more US wheat

WASHINGTON, March J. (AP): China has been authorised to buy an additional two million metric tons of US wheat at subsidised prices, the US Agriculture Department said vesterday.

Behind them vast mounains reared against the sky. black and forbidding a thin covering of snow lay on the ground. It was very cold, and completely still and quiet the sort of quiet that one expects to be broken at any moment.

Come, we must hurry," the Poppy whispered. "I cansmell thunder in the air! Have you got the Pipe?" Shivering with cold and excitement, I took the Pipe rom my pocket, and the oppy's voice rang out suddenly in the frozen silence.

"Pipe! Pipe! Show us the The tinkling music I had heard before sounded again, and to my surprise the little Pipe wrenched from my hands, and began to jump, end on, in leaps and bounds across the lake.

"This is where Farrenfeugh ends and the Giant's domain begins," the Poppy said, as we followed, slip-ping and stumbling on the ce, "The Pipe will show us the way through."

I found it hard to believe, but it was true. The Pipe had already stopped at the end of a large hole in the ice, and in a moment we had joined it. I looked down expecting to see water, But inside, it was round like a well. Cut out of the solid ice, steps led down into the depths. We stood at the edge, peering down into the darkness below.

"You must go on alone now," the Poppy said. "I can go no further. 'Down there?" I said. I didn't like the idea at all. 'Down there alone?" The Poppy twisted and turned on its stalk, bending his great head towards me. 'What shall we do?" he said finally. "I can't go with you; my magic goes no further than this. Can't you go on alone? You will have the Silver Pipe to protect you!"

That's all very well, I thought, but the Pipe is very small, and that Giant, what I have seen of him, is very big! Then I remembered the poor unhappy Queen Bodina. And the King! What had happened to him?

'All right," I said. "I'll go — if you promise to wait for

"Of course I will wait," the Poppy replied. "When you reach the bottom, follow the Trembling River. There is always a boat waiting tell it to take you to the King. You must find the King. If you need to, blow into the Pipe, it will know what to do. I will wait for you at the edge of the lake by the trees. Good-bye, dear child. Good luck.

I started down the steps.

Light seemed to filter through from the surface of the lake, and it was not as dark as I had expected. But how cold it was: and it grew colder and colder, the farther I went. I thought the steps would go on for ever. Then, when I was beginning to feel giddy from going round and round, and round and round, they came to an end, and I found myself in a narrow winding tunnel. The only light there was seemed to come from white tree roots, which twisted their way in and out of the crumbling walls. Occasionally I heard scampering feet in some of the smaller passages and tunnels that passed. I hurried along, stopping every now and then to peer round a corner, or into the mouth of another tunnel.

At last, when I was beginning to think I had lost my way, I saw in front of me a huge door, made entirely of tree-roots. There was a notice on it, in some strange language I could make neither head nor tail of. I was staring at it. trying to find some recognizable word, when the door slowly opened and I found myself face to face with two giant rats, crouched side by side, entirely filling the doorway. They were several times my height, horrible-looking creatures — little wicked eyes, and sharp teeth yellowed and broken. They weren't going to let me pass,

I could see, and they might well not stop at that. I took out the little Silver Pipe, and blew into it. To my delight, after only a second or two of silvery tinkling notes. which the Pipe played, not me, I've never played a note in my life — the rats closed their eyes, and went straight into a deep sleep. Shuddering slightly, I squeezed between them.

I was in an enormous rocky cavern, with arching sides, and a roof so far above my head, it was lost in darkness. Down the middle flowed a vast river. This must be the Trembling River, I thought. Indeed I knew it was. I could hear the water murmuring, 'tremble, tremble, tremble', as it swirled away into the gloom. Just in front of me, moored to the side, was a small boat. I jumped in, and said, in as commanding a voice as I could manage --Take me to the King! Please! As fast as you can.

The boat must have been used to such orders, because there was no need to push off, it moved by itself, and we were soon out in midstream. All I could hear were drops of water plopping on to the seat beside me, and the swirling, swishing river murmuring tremble, tremble, tremble. The boat bumped and swayed; rocks loomed up in the darkness, but miraculously we always avoided them. Somehwere ahead, I heard a bell tolling. The tolling grew louder and gradually, as we came out into the open, I saw a large buoy with a bell in a cage on the top, rolling to and fro on the water. Beyond lay a desolate expanse of water, half-frozen, grey and still. Here and there, trees clustered together on tiny islands, poking their branches above the drifting mist.

The boat floated on, across the still surface of the lake, although there was no current that I could see, and finally we came to rest against landing stage which jutted out from one of the larger islands. I hope nobody sees me, I thought, as I tied the boat to a post, and walked up on to the island amongst the trees.

The mist was thick and terribly cold. It was dark beneath the trees. I had no idea which way to go. So I took the Silver Pipe out of my pocket and blew into it. For a moment everything was just as before. But as I stood waiting for something to happen. I felt a draught blowing on the back of my neck, and a wind rushed past me, clearing a path through the mist. Following the wind. I ran up the path and there, behind an iron gate, its lower ramparts half-hidden by trees and mist, its battlements and turrets lost in the clouds above, stood a colossal castle. I was so small compared to it that I slipped through the gate easily, and at last stood gazing up at the towering mass. The walls were steep and slippery, but fortunately covered with a thick clinging creeper. I'll climb up that, I thought. Perhaps I'll find a window where I can get in.

The first window was shut tight; but the second was open. I pulled myself up on to the ledge and dropped down into the room inside. Looking round I saw I was in a sort of scullery, or pantry. It was vast! Everything in the room was ten sizes too big. The bucket under the sink was as big as a war-

Haynes signs contract with Middlesex

LONDON, March 1, (Reuter): West Indies' accomplished opening batsman Desmond Haynes is to make his first appearance in English county cricket after signing a two-year contract with Middlesex.

The 33-year-old Barbadian completed negotiations during a brief visit to London, and Middlesex secretary Colonel Peter Packham said today: "He's the best opener in the world — that's why we wanted him.

The tragic death of Wilf Slack during the winter made an opening batsman our top priority," said Packham. "They don't come any better than Des-

West Indian-born Slack collapsed during a cricket match in the Gambia six weeks ago and died of a heart attack shortly after being taken to hospital.

Haynes has played in 81 Tests and recently completed a mag-nificent tour of Australia where he headed his team's batting averages in the five Tests with 537 runs -- a record for a West Indian in Australia.

Although Haynes has not played county cricket before, he has immense knowledge of English conditions from three tours with West Indies and severa other playing visits that included a spell with Scotland's team. Haynes will not start his Middiesex career until mid-May because of West Indies' Test series against India in the Carib-

Al Hajri aims to extend lead

AFTER taking an immediate lead in the 1989 FISA Middle East Championship, Rothmans star Saeed Al Hajri will be going all out to increase his advantage in the second round of the series in Kuwait.

Following the 15th international victory of his career in the controversial Qatar Rally, Al Hajri is determined to make it two wins in a row as he chases a third regional title. Performance Delighted with the performance of the new Rothmans Ford Sierra RS Cosworth, he said: "I am going to Kuwait with only one thing in mind - to win the rally. I am a professional rally driver and I love this sport, and I don't intend to let anything dis-

Al Hajri, who will again be partnered by British co-driver Steve Bond, added: "Winning the first event of the season is always important. Now that I am out in front, that is where I intend to stay by driving as quickly as possible, without taking unnecessary risks."

The Kuwait International Rally has seen some brilliant driving by Al Hajri. He won the event in 1983 and 1987, and was ready to celebrate victory again last year after cruising home ahead of Mohammed Bin Al Hajri Sulayem.

However, Al Hajri was later told that he had lost the event on a technicality. "I thought I had done everything right and even slowed down over the last few stages because I was in complete control," he said. "But rallying is never straightforward and victory in Kuwait this time will be even more enjoyable after what happened last year."

Toyota and Lancia share lead in Portuguese rally

ESTORIL, Portugal, March I. (AP): Massimo Biasion of Italy and Finn Markku Alen in their Lancia Delta Integrales shared the lead of the Portuguese-Port Wine Rally yesterday with Spain's Carlos Sainz driving a Toyota Celica GT Four, after the race's first special stage at the Estoril Autodrome.

The three lapped the 5.5 kilometre (3.4-mile) circuit in 4.05 minutes, edging out Finn Juha Kankkunen in a Toyota and diminutive French ace Didier Auriol in the third works Lancia, who both clocked 4.07 minutes.

Swedish veteran Bjorn Waldegaard was in sixth place after the one-lap opening stage around the specially-adapted Formula One racetrack.

The first stage of the 2,187-kilometre (1,367-mile), four-day event produced an expected dual between the sleek, Japanese hitech Toyotas and the bullish Integrales that are hoping to repeat Lancia's 1988 world title and maintain the long rally tradition of the flag and shield marque

Both cars are similar in specification though, with turbocharged engines and four-wheel drive and the Celicas edge out the Integrales in the power stakes by only five horsepower with their engines' 265 horse power output.

to goalless draw by Millwall

LONDON, March 1, (AP): Arsenal extended its lead at the top of the English First Division to five points yesterday despite a 0-0 draw at home against thirdplaced Millwall.

At a windswept Highbury stadium, Arsenal rarely performed like League leaders and were lucky to earn a point in a match that tested the Gunners' title claims to the limit.

Arsenal manager George Graham complained in the match programme that he expected teams to come "to frustrate us, kill the game, and waste time."

Nothing could have been further from the truth against Millwall, whose committed, competitive performance lacked only one thing: the finishing touch. When Millwall did get the ball in the net. Les Briley's volley past goalie John Lukic on the half-hour was ruled out for offside.

Millwall also claimed a penalty in a stirring opening half when Teddy Sheringham looked to have been brought down by Tony Adams.

Sheringham and Tony Cascarino caused repeated problems for Arsenal, but couldn't score.

The only time Arsenal threatened was immediately before the interval when their best move, involving David Rocastle and David O'Leary, finished with Michael Thomas failing to find the target.

Hearts stun Bayern Munich

EDINBURGH, March 1, (AP): Ian Ferguson's goal gave Heart of Midlothian, the tournament's rank outsider, an upset 1-0 victory over West German giant Bayern Munich in a UEFA Cup quarterfinal, first leg soccer game last night. Hearts, Britain's sole surviving representative in European club competition in the absence of banned English teams, won the game after 55 minutes when Ferguson drove home a 25-yard freekick.

Kenny Black was fouled and when Tosh Mckinlay tapped the freekick to Ferguson, the striker rifled an unstoppable shot past Raimond Aumann in Bayern's

The second leg will take place at Bayern in two years' time. Hearts, yet to concede a goal at home in the competition, barely threatened the West Germans in the first half when the visitors'

Hans Flick was off target with two shots. Those missed chances gave Hearts the confidence to go forward after the break while Bayern showed little of the style that had produced 12 goals in its three previous on-the-road UEFA Cup games. Bayern's playmaker, inter-national midfielder Olaf Thon, contributed little and left Edin-burgh with a caution.

Ferguson, whose goals carried Dundee United to the final of the UEFA Cup two years ago before his transfer to Hearts, brought the 29,000 crowd to its feet with his stunning strike, his first in Europe for the club.

As the second half progressed. the Scots went in search of second goal, which ought to have come from stand-in captain Dave McPherson eight minutes from time. The big defender was put clean through by McKinlay but finished weakly.

Arsenal held PERNFORS AND GILBERT TO MEET IN WCT SEMIFINALS

Wilander and Edberg knocked out

DALLAS, March 1, (Reuter): World number two Mats Wilander and his Swedish compatriot Wimbledon champion Stefan Edberg were knocked out of the $685,000 WCT quarterfinals yesterday by opponents who will meet in the semifinals.

Another Swede, Mikael Pernfors, rallied from a two sets to one deficit to beat Wilander 2-6, 6-1. 3-6, 6-2, 6-3. American Brad Gilbert, a late substitute for the ill Boris Becker, beat Edberg 7-6, 6-1, 6-3 and will meet Pernfors in the semilinals.

Wilander, who picked up a racquet only a day ago for the first time since losing in the second round of the Australian Open seven weeks ago, was not surprised to lose

Deserved

"I didn't have too much preparation," said Wilander. Mikael played really well and I knew he has tired because he was telling me in the change overs that he was going to die. I think it is fair because he deserved it

After the first set, Wilander found it difficult to find accuracy with his shots and his confidence sagged. Pernfors, who has been in form over recent weeks, was able to capitalise on his oppor-

"I hit the forehand the best for a long time" said Pernfors. "It was not his best tennis and I was playing very well and it was a good feeling."

Wilander said after the match he felt like not touching a racquet for another two months but he still enjoyed playing tennis.

Gilbert's victory as the eightplayer tournament's alternate for influenza-struck Becker, marked the second straight year that Gilbert enjoyed WCT success at the expense of a Wimbledon champion. Last year he upset Australian Pat Cash. Severe

"I took the red-eye plane from my home in California," Gilbert said. "I had a good 10 minutes on the match court and went out thinking I had nothing to lose."

Edberg was playing his first tournament since severe back spasms forced him to default his semifinal at the Australian Open six weeks ago.

The Swede, who was tentative with his shots and unable to hit his serve at 100 per cent, said he played well below his normal "It was frustrating," said Edberg, "It was a little disappointing, but not too much. It is hard coming here because I can't push myself and I think maybe I it is all my head." Edberg said he felt no pain in his back but lost concentration after the first set, in which he held a service break, and that allowed

Becker, whose streak of six straight indoor tournament titles began in Dallas last year, informed Ken Farrar, the Grand Prix supervisor and Benjy Robins, the Association of Tennis Professionals (ATP) road manager, that he was ill.

"I called Boris and he sounded very bad," Robins said. "He was hoarse in the throat, pretty much lost his voice and he had a fever." The West German's withdrawal was surprising since Becker had made a point of pronouncing himself fit after winning the US pro tournament in Philadelphia on Sunday.

Scheduled

Becker, who also won the tour-nament in Milan, Italy, the week before, arrived in Dallas on Sunday night after his three-set win in the Philadelphia final final against Tim Mayotte. Becker, 21, attended the WCT and bad for the event and he just can't give any type of performance. This is a legitimate excuse," added Robins. Becker is next scheduled to play at Indian Wells, where he is defending champion, starting on

Schoendienst and Barlick elected to Baseball Hall of Fame

TAMPA, March 1, (AP): Red Schoendienst, a sure-handed second baseman who led the National League in fielding seven times, and former umpire Al Barlick were elected to the Raseball Hall of Fame yesterday by the Veterans Committee, while Phil Rizzuto was snubbed once again. Schoendienst, 66, spent 18 years in the major leagues — 14 with the St Louis Cardinals and batted over .300 seven times. He also managed the Cardinals from 1965-76, winning pennants in 1967 and 1968 and a world series title in 1967.

My wife thought I should be in a long time ago, but that's wives," Schoendienst said from his apartment in St Petersburg. where the cards are in spring

Called up

Barlick, 73, known for his booming voice at the plate, was one of the youngest umpires ever to make it to the majors when, at the age 25, he was called up to the National League in 1940. Barlick spent 27 full seasons in the league and part of another.

I think it's a miracle that I got Barlick said by telephone from his home in Gilbert, Arizona, where he is working as an umpire consultant for the National League. "Other than that, I really don't have anything to say."

Seventeen of the 18 committee members were present during deliberations. Although no total was announced, it takes 14 votes for election.

Golfers gather for Dubai golf classic

DUBAL, March 1, (AP): British Open champion Ian Woosnam and other top golfers gathered in Dubai for the $438,000 Karl Litten Overseas Desert Challenge, despite efforts by anti-apartheid activists to stop them.

The London-based Golf Against Apartheid claimed that Woosnam and other British players, including Howard Clarke, Paul Way, Sam Torrance, Philip Parkins and Chris Moody, had played in South Africa despite international bans protesting Pretoria's policy of racial segregation.

The anti-apartheid group's founder, Roger Bunn, said yes-terday that it had asked Dubai authorities to stop golfers with South African stamps on their passports from entering the country.

But all the players got in without problems. An official of the Karl Litten Overseas Co., the tournament organisers, said it had heard nothing about the anti-apartheid group's action.

CRICKET Club of Kuwait (CCK) lifted the Rahman Trophy after tough fights against Hubara Cricketers in the semifinal and Flying Arrows in the final on Friday and Saturday at the KOC grounds in Ahmadi.

After crushing Hawks in the quarterfinals CCK entered the race to avenge their defeat by Hubara Cricketers in last month's final of Bawa Shield.

In the semifinals CCK once again met their mighty rivals the Hubara Cricketers in the morning at Oval. After winning the toss the Hubara opted to bat

first. None of their batsmen could confidently face the bowl-ing of Faisal and Saifuddin. Rejuctant Shipton was so reluctant that he could only score 19 runs in 15 overs without any fence touching shot. When unlucky Pat Flower tried to go wild on a rising delivery from Saifuddin he found himself trapped with a few injured teeth. The Hubara could not check the onslaught of CCK bowlers as wickets were falling on regular short intervals. Riffat and Saeed bowled so tightly that they never allowed any batsmen to score freely against them. At the end of the allotted 30 overs, the Hubara could muster only 134 runs, their lowest of the season.

Riffat 34 for three, Saeed 34 for two were the most successful bowlers while Faisal, Saifuddin and Mansoor collected one wicket each at 30, 15 and 6 runs on the score-board when Talboot nailed all the joyous enthusiasm in CCK camp by snatching three wickets within the space of seven runs and CCK were 130 for nine wickets. But the tailenders Fawaz and Saeed safely took CCK past the 134 mark.

the same class as he exhibited on Friday with equal support from Saifuddin. Boys win two games in Bahrain tour THE annual tour proved an unqualified success both on and off the field of play. The touring

The scores however do not reflect the sporting attitude and talented skills of the Kuwaiti players against difficult odds.
